BACKCOUNTRY HORSEMEN

OF CALIFORNIA

Concerned Men and Women Dedicated to Gentle Use of California Trails and Backcountry

Presidents Message

We are sure thankful for the rain and snow, so we will just have to put up with the inconvenience of changing dates and rides. This water should help us out for a couple of years. Please check the calendar on line as dates continue to change and come join us for an event.

We did manage to get the ride in at Jose Basin, Thanks to all the weather we were able to enjoy one of the best years ever. Waterfalls that I have never seen, wild flowers everywhere you looked and perfect weather. What a great start to the new season.

Check out our calendar to see the tentative dates for rides and work parties. Some may have to change due to snow closures.

We are still looking for a historian for our unit. Also if you have a favorite place to ride and would like to host a ride, we would be glad to help with the particulars.

Remember to stay in the saddle, the ground is hard,

Joe Kaminski
President

PARK ACCESS PASS

Many Veterans, with a service connected disability rating, are entering Federal parks for free with the Lifetime National Parks Access Pass from the U.S. Department of the Interior, National Park Service. Good for entry into 400+ National Parks and over 2,000 recreation sites across the country, the Lifetime Access Pass is another way a grateful nation says thank you for the service and sacrifices of Veterans with disabilities.

The Access Pass admits disabled Veterans and any passengers in their vehicle (non-commercial) at per-vehicle fee areas; and, the pass owner plus three additional adults where per-person fees are charged. In addition to free entry at participating parks, the Access Pass includes discounts on expanded amenity fees; such as camping, swimming, boat launching and guided tours.

Veterans who have a VA disability rating, (10 percent or higher) are eligible for the Lifetime Access Pass—with two ways to apply.

First, disabled Veterans can apply in person at a participating federal recreation site. Simply present photo identification (Drivers license, State ID, Passport) and documentation proving a permanent disability (VA awards letter, VA ID with service connected annotation, VA summary of benefits, or receipt of Social Security disability income). That's It. The Pass is free and issued at the time of entry.

Second, if applying by mail, send a completed packet and $10 processing fee to the United States Geological Survey (USGS). The packet should include:

The Access Pass application form
Proof of residency
VA disability award letter, VA summary of benefits, or proof of SSDI income
Pass delivery expected 10-12 weeks after receipt.

Make sure to have photo ID available when using your Lifetime Access Pass and enjoy the majestic scenery and abundant recreational opportunities our National Parks provide.

INTRODUCTION TO MOUNTAIN RIDING GROUP FORMING

Do you love to ride your horse lots of places but have never ridden in the nearby Sierras. Perhaps you don't know where good trails are? Are unsure of how your horse will react to strange terrain, obstacles and smells? You don't have anyone to mountain ride with? You just need more information to feel safe and have fun in the mountains? As interest dictates small groups of 4 riders and a guide will gather to ride 2 times a month in the areas above Shaver Lake, Huntington Lake and Courtright Lake. Rides will start easy and progress according to groups desires. Tailgate sessions before each ride will discuss what to expect and general safety tips. If interested please contact Muriel Holland @ 805-440-9289 for more information. I am also looking for an experienced mountain rider to ride along for safety and to share their knowledge and enthusiasm for our beautiful high country.

WORK PARTY PARTICIPATION

Please call Joe Kaminski and let him know if you are taking part in any of the work parties on the calendar of events. They are preparing food for all who are participating and need to know as soon as possible so they can shop and cook for the crew.

The Lighter Side

A guy is walking through the country when he spots a sign that reads, "Talking Horse for Sale." Intrigued, he walks up to the stable to check it out.

"So what have you done with your life?" he asks the horse.

"I've led a full life," the horse answers miraculously. "I was born in The Andes where I herded for an entire village. Years later, I joined the mounted police force in New York and helped keep the city clean. And now, I spend my days giving free rides to underprivileged kids here in the country."

The guy is flabbergasted. He asks the horse's owner, "Why on earth would you want to get rid of such an incredible animal?"

The owner says, "Because he's a liar! He never did any of that!"

HAS YOUR HORSE BEEN CUT?

I include this story as I had a recent incident happen with my horse while riding in the desert. Doug and I had gone out to the desert to ride and arrived on Friday night. Upon waking and getting horses ready in the morning I found that my horse had both his mane and tail cut. I did not first believe that anyone would do that but the missing hair was cut in straight chunky fashion that could only happen with a scissors. This was not a rubbing issue as I have experience with that, but it was done to the whole mane and the tale although not cut off completely it had large chunks cut out throughout its length that almost made the tail look layered. I spoke to a few people about this and although they had never witnessed it they had stories of it being a problem mostly done for money but some stories of it being used for crafts and cultural events. Anyway thought I would share this article so that we may be more vigilant and informed.

By:

Joyce Coates
Enterprise Staff

On an otherwise ordinary day, one or more thieves sneaked onto Charlotte O'Dell's hobby farm last month, cut off and absconded with hair from the tails of her mammoth jack and her mule.

What seems an odd but cruel act, unfortunately is only one among the latest wave of similar incidents occurring across the Midwest. On January 7 this year the Kansas City Star reported six separate thefts in Wyandotte County, KS by thieves who snuck into stables at night to cut and steal horses' tails. In March, a similar theft occurred in Omaha and in South Dakota on April 26.

Hundreds of incidents in Wyoming in 2013 spread to Colorado, Ohio, Missouri and Illinois. Similar thefts were reported in South Dakota in 2004, in Montana in 2010 and elsewhere in the years between. And now, the problem has come to Benton County.

On Thursday evening, October 19, Charlotte O'Dell came home after work and as usual went out to take care of the animals. Surprised and upset to find their tails noticeably thinner and shorter, she called a friend to come and see. They realized the tails had been cut, "scalped," in O'Dell's words. On Saturday she called the Sheriff's Office to report the incident.

O'Dell said for years there have been no problems. The animals graze in a field fenced in by barbed wire, so she does not know how outsiders gained access to them. Tree trimmers from Southwest Electric company were working at the farm that day, but when asked, said they had not seen anyone else on the property.

Every year during hunting season O'Dell is concerned about the possibility of hunters' stray bullets hitting the livestock. Now, in addition, she and every other horse owner in Benton County must be alert to this new threat, and do whatever they can to protect their animals against sneak-thief attacks.

These animals need their tails to communicate, for warmth in winter and to control pests, especially during the summer months. Sadly, for O'Dell's jack and mule, it will take at least a year for their tail hair to grow back. One owner whose horse's tail was stolen after being cut off nearly to the bony tip, said, "stealing its tail is like cutting off a person's limb."

Animal cruelty carries fines and penalties laid out in Section 578.012 of Missouri Revised Statutes. First time offenses may be charged as misdemeanors, but for repeated offenses, or intentional acts involving "torture or mutilation, or both, consciously inflicted while the animal was alive," violators can be charged with a felony and sentenced to up to seven years in prison.

In medieval times it was not uncommon for vengeful men to cut off the meticulously groomed, flowing manes and tails of their enemies' horses. A perpetrator in those days intended to insult and demean a rival knight by attacking his horse, a source of pride that reflected its owner's masculinity, power and prestige. Centuries later, however, thefts of horsetails and hair have rarely been motivated by personal rivalries. Trading in horsetails and hair can be lucrative and attracts legitimate dealers or otherwise.

Some historical examples of legitimate trade: In 1912, the United States was importing and exporting horsetails or hair from China, Japan and Russia, as well as from European and many other nations. In 1952, the Navy began making paintbrushes from horsetail hair instead of hog bristles. In 1972, Leavenworth Prison paid $443,448 for 155,000 lbs. of horsetail hair for prisoners to use to make brushes.

Turning to the "otherwise," as long ago as 1860 in Australia, 1894 in New York, and 1916 in St. Louis, to name a few, newspapers were reporting employees sent to jail for stealing horsetails and hair. Temptation overcame one greedy secretary in 1980 in California who was arrested for stealing horsetail hair from her employer worth $20,000, and selling it from her apartment.

Horsetail hair is sold by the pound, for as much as $400-$500 for white palomino hair. It is used in many everyday products, including: baskets, belts, brushes of all types, carpet, cloth, curlers, fabrics, fishing lines, furniture padding, hats, lariats, fishing nets, jewelry brings in as much as $1,000-$2,000 for braided horse bridles, upholstery cloth, violin and cello bows, whips, and wigs, including extensions for humans and show horses.

The horse owner victims of these crimes agree with the police and county sheriffs who investigate them that the perpetrators, whether small-time crooks or organized bands, are motivated by the opportunity to make easy money. Unfortunately, unscrupulous dealers, many of them online, keep the black-market trade alive.

Cutting and stealing a horse's tail and hair is lowdown and dishonorable. Hopefully, there will be no more of it here.

SHAVER LAKE HORSE CAMP OPENS

Camp Will Open for Memorial Day Weekend

BCHC San Joaquin Sierra Unit again makes the Shaver Lake Horse Camp available for use by members and associate members wishing to enjoy camping and riding at Shaver Lake.

Shaver Lake is situated at elev. 5,300 ft. within the Sierra National Forest on scenic recreational land. There are ample riding destinations, as the camp itself is adjacent to the 12.5 mile Perimeter Trail that surrounds the lake. Also in the vicinity are the Ely Mountain and Balsam Forebay Trails.

The camp is located behind a locked gate, 1 mile East of Highway 168 on Dinkey Creek Road. It is a dry camp, with portable sanitary facilities. There are two tables, a fire pit and 3 stalls. Fire regulations apply; cookstoves can be used on the table top. And, of course, campers must Leave No Trace.

California's Greatest Lakes.com describes Shaver Lake as "one of the most enjoyable vacation lakes in California", with a "balmy, 78-degree average high temperature." This writer has enjoyed many pleasurable hours riding and appreciating a picture-perfect view at every turn. Make your plans and reservations now to enjoy a perfect mountain experience for both you and your horse.

The camp will be open May 24 through October 31, 2019, for SJSU members only.

Cost is per membership—$10/day for camping, $5/day for picnic use.

Other units are welcome to use the camp after joining as Associate Members ($15 additional).

CLOVIS PARADE

This year we had another successful ride in the Clovis Rodeo parade. This year we came in second place in our division! The weather was perfect and we had a great entry number putting us early in the second section. Our flag bearers, John Mikkelson and Tiffany Beechinor, did us proud, and we had a good rider turnout. Thanks to Carol Kaminski, Jaedyn Traeger, Steve Naylon, Paige Stambach, Ruth Cramer, Marcee Hansen, Lois Patten, Karen Daughrity, Barbara-Calkins Faggart and the stars of the show, Bob Herrick and Lee Herrick with their wonderful string of mules. Thanks to everyone who participated and for looking so awesome in their matching parade attire.

See you next year.

Black Bear Sense

A COMMON SENSE GUIDE TO UNDERSTANDING BEARS

*A leaf fell in the woods.
The eagle saw it.*

*The deer heard it.
And the bear smelled it.*

You humans have me figured to be just like Yogi, BooBoo or your cuddly stuffed Teddy Bear. Please remember; I am a wild animal. Statistically, you are quite safe from us bears. We do add a risk to you visiting the backcountry but you take a much greater risk driving to the trailhead. Even if you should die in the wilderness, you are much more likely to fall off a cliff, drown, suffer heart failure or succumb to hypothermia than you are to be attacked by one of us bears.

My eyesight is not perfect but my sense of smell and hearing are very keen. I can smell you humans coming for quite some distance and I'll usually be gone at the first whiff of human intrusion. There are some of us bears you have invited in for milk and cookies. To some of my fellow bears, the smell of humans in the woods works like a dinner bell.

All of us bears remember where our meals come from. We aren't dumb and our stomachs rule. We have a road map sketched in our minds. All the best restaurants (campsites, berry patches, cars, oak groves, etc.) are located on this map and we will visit them again in a couple of days.

We bears are intelligent and opportunistic critters and when we become accustomed to the idea that humans share our space, we readily take advantage of everything that association has to offer — such as helping ourselves to your delicious pork and beans, granola bars, bacon, toothpaste, soap. Some of us have even cultivated a taste for chocolate. We will also eat chapstick and deodorant. With noses like ours, it is impossible to hide the fact that you are keeping all that good stuff in your tent, your car, or your camper! Our noses lead us to the food and our incredible strength gets us past almost any obstacle. We are able to open the side of your trailer as though we had can openers for claws. We will open cans of spaghetti sauce and ravioli. The fact is, when we bears are offered the choice, we will almost always opt for the easiest meal at hand; we have discovered that beef stew with milk and cookies tastes better than grubs!

If we gain access to your food, we become habituated. That means we become dependent on human food sources and are less afraid of humans. Therefore, it is critical that we never gain access to human food. You humans need to mind your manners while you are visiting the forests and parks. Take time to store your food properly at the campground and in the backcountry. It is your moral and legal responsibility. Proper food storage makes the difference between a wild bear and a dead bear because problem bears are often destroyed. The following suggestions may make the difference of having a good time during your visit or going home angry and upset. Please help us both stay alive.

Black Bear Essentials to Remember

The following are what we bears would like you humans to remember.

You Must Be Alert

Please Do Not Surprise Me

You Are Being Aggressive If You:

Get between me and my cub
Are anywhere near a carcass
It's my food!

Walk directly towards me
Circle or crowd me

I need an escape route!
Try to take "your" food away from me

It's mine!

The following are some helpful hints to remember while visiting the forests and parks.

Avoid a Confrontation

Separate cooking and sleeping areas
Store food and garbage properly
Keep a clean camp site

Avoid a Confrontation: Watch for these Signs

Large areas of torn up ground
Rocks or boulders turned over
Logs or stumps torn apart
Fish or dead animals
Berries
Claw marks on trees
Bear scat

Remember: Wild Animals Can Be Dangerous

Bears habituated to food are dangerous
Do not run
Try to look larger than you are
Do not bend down
Each situation is different

REMEMBER

Bears have an extraordinary sense of smell. Bears are attracted to and will eat anything with an odor. While not normally aggressive towards humans, bears are possessive of their food and will defend it. They are very quick and powerful. DO NOT TRY TO RETRIEVE YOUR FOOD FROM A BEAR. If a bear gets into your food, stay a safe distance away and then be sure to clean up the mess afterwards. Report incidents to a ranger. You can keep bears wild and alive by storing your food properly. Just use some thought and preparation.

PROPER FOOD STORAGE FOR BACKCOUNTRY USERS

On some trails you may be visited by bears every night. On others, you may not see bears your entire trip; however, that does not mean that bears do not live in that area. In all cases, the best way to store your food properly is in a portable, BEAR-RESISTANT CANISTER OR PANNIER. Safe food storage is as simple as placing the locked canister or pannier on the ground 50 feet from your camp. THIS METHOD OF FOOD STORAGE IS THE ONLY PROVEN, EFFECTIVE WAY TO STORE YOUR FOOD. It is required in some areas of the backcountry that you store your food in bear-resistant containers. Please check with the agencies about requirements before starting your trip. Canisters are for sale and rent at sporting goods stores and some ranger stations. Panniers are available through some saddle shops. Using a bear-resistant container allows for maximum freedom and safety while traveling and when choosing a camp location. The counter-balance method should be your last resort. This method is hard to do well, requires trees and rope, and bears often thwart it. In fact, bears will probably get your food if you do not get out of your warm bed and make some mighty loud noise and keep a sentinel on watch after the first visit.

PROPER FOOD STORAGE AT CAMPGROUNDS AND TRAILHEADS

Food storage is just as important at campgrounds and trailheads. Having more people and vehicles around doesn't mean there is less danger of losing your food. To a bear, more people means more food. STORE ALL FOOD IN FOOD STORAGE LOCKERS IF THEY ARE AVAILABLE. If there are no lockers, then store the food and ice chest in your vehicle (better in the trunk), keep them covered and out of sight. Leaving food in your vehicle at the trailhead while you are in the
